The measure of a number of unit squares needed to cover a surface.

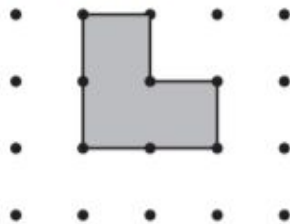

$$4 \times 7 = 28 \text{ sq. cm}$$

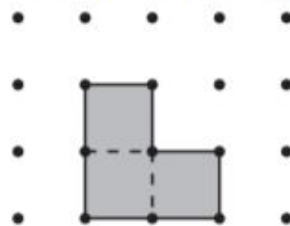

Understand Area

A unit square is a square with a side length of 1 unit. Area is the measure of the number of unit squares needed to cover a surface. A square unit is used to measure area.

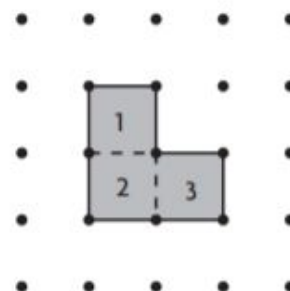

What is the area of the figure?

Step 1 Draw lines to show each unit square in the figure.

Step 2 Count the number of unit squares to find the area.

The area of the figure is 3 square units.

Kyle ordered his favorite ice cream sundae. He was feeling very hungry, so he asked to add an extra scoop of ice cream to the sundae. His mouth watered as he watched the clerk add the fudge.

"That will be $2.25," said the clerk.

"That doesn't sound quite right. I think I should owe more. Did you remember to charge me for the extra scoop of ice cream?" asked Kyle.

"Oh no! I did forget! I can't believe that you said something! Most people would not. You're a good kid!"

Measure Area

Find the area of the figure. Each unit square is 1 square inch.

Think: How many unit squares are needed to cover this flat surface?

Step 1 Use 1-inch square tiles. Cover the surface of the figure with the tiles. Make sure there are no gaps (space between the tiles). Do not overlap the tiles.

Step 2 Count the tiles you used.
5 tiles are needed to cover the figure.

So, the area of the figure is 5 square inches.

Count to find the area of the figure.
Each square is 1 square inch.

Read the passage three times. Shade a book each time.

Allie looked left and right. No one was in the corridor. She opened the classroom door and tiptoed inside, even though Miss Wong said it was against school rules to enter a classroom without a teacher.

After lunch, Miss Wong noticed that the classroom door was slightly ajar. "Did you enter the classroom when you weren't supposed to?" she asked Allie.

"Of course I didn't," said Allie. "However, I did see Maria in the corridor at lunch."

"Is that true?" Miss Wong asked Maria.

"No!" said Maria. "I don't break rules!"

"It was definitely Maria," said Allie. "She was running along the corridor when she should have been walking."
